COPIED COMMENTS.

ALL THAT SAVED HER.

"Maria Jane," said a fond mother, the other morning to her daughter, "did Daniel Johnson kiss you on the steps last night?" "No, mamma, he did not," If the fond parent had said lips instead of steps, it would have troubled Maria Jane to reply.—Dailyville Tribune.

"BEWARE OF THE VIDDERS."

A license was issued by the county clerk for the marriage of Wm. Gordon and Mrs. Maggie Johnson on the 29th of March. Before the expected bridegroom elect arrived at the domicile of the widow, however, she had changed her mind and positively refused to marry him. The license was returned to the clerk's office yesterday endorsed, "No property found." We commend to Mr. Gordon the advice of old man Weller to his son: "Samvill, beware of the vidders."—Owensboro Messenger.

A PRECOCIOUS YOUNGSTER.

Little Hugh Bradley, the bright and handsome three year old son of Dr. Bradford, the Representative from Pendleton county, accompanied his father to the House yesterday. During his stay he brought up at the Clerk's desk, where he made a number of very bright inquiries. Finally noticing the venerable Gov. Merriweather, who was temporarily occupying the Chair, he asked: "What does he sit up there for?" "To make us behave ourselves," was the Clerk's reply. "Then, why don't he do it?" was the grave query of the observing youngster. The Clerk gave it up, and the question is referred to the presiding officer.—Yeoman.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

TEACHER—Where is Cincinnati? PUPIL—In Ohio. TEACHER—Upon what side of the river is it situated? PUPIL—The north side, and they had a bloody riot there the other night; killed 51 men, wounded 160; burned the court house, nearly beat down the jail, and did everything to be conceived of by a madheaded crowd. TEACHER—What for? PUPIL—The people allege that the courts will not give them justice, will not hang the murderers nor punish crime. TEACHER—Which side of the river do you say Ohio is on? PUPIL—The north; they have plenty of riots up there now, but those blinded by their prejudice against the South can only hear of mobs in our country.—Bowling Green Gazette.

A New Creed.

[New York Times.]

The committee appointed by the National Congregational Council in 1880 to prepare a new creed for the Congregational body has completed its work. The new creed has no leading force except upon such congregations as may adopt it, for the principle of independency makes it impossible for any Congregational Council to exercise authority over congregations. From the character and reputation of the members of the committee it may, however, be taken for granted that they fairly represent their denomination, and that their work will be accepted by a majority of Congregational societies, and so become the distinctive Congregational creed.

The new creed is contained in twelve articles. It begins almost in the very words of the Nicene Creed but the fullness with which that creed sets forth the doctrine of the Holy Trinity is evidently regarded as injudicious by the modern representatives of Trinitarian Congregationalism. Thus where the Nicene Creed says of the Holy Ghost, He "proceedeth from the Father and the Son"—using the term "proceedeth," in its theological sense, the Congregational creed says that He "is sent from the Father and the Son." This change renders it possible for those who, disbelieving the doctrine of the Holy Trinity, deny that the Holy Spirit is of one substance with the God the Father, to be admitted to the membership and ministry of the Congregational body. This is certainly liberal, but with what amazement and indignation would the founders of Congregationalism regard it?

The second article of the new creed deals with the subject of the Divine decrees. The framers of this article have worded it in such a manner that there is not an Arminian in the land who could not cheerfully subscribe for it. If it becomes part of the accepted Congregational creed, Congregationalists will no longer have the right to call themselves Calvinists. In the younger days of the sect it was pre-eminent among all the Calvinistic bodies for the prominence which it gave to the doctrines of election and predestination. The new creed not only knows nothing of these two doctrines, but it abandons entirely the Calvinistic ground as to the Divine decrees which Congregationalism has always occupied.

In regard to the inspiration of the Scriptures the new creed is so worded as to be unobjectionable, either to Cardinal Newman or to the Rev. Herbert Newton. Article V. says: "We believe that the Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments are the record of God's revelation of Himself in the work of redemption," and "that they were written by men under the special guidance of the Holy Spirit." There is not a word in the article or elsewhere in the creed as to this infallibility of the whole of the Scriptures; not a word that is incompatible with Dr. Newton's assertion that the Scriptures contain the word of God, but that every part of the Scriptures is not the work of God. Thus, the framers of the new creed are content with affirming, not that the whole Bible is infallible, not that the whole of it is a revelation from God, but that it is a "record" of God's revelation, and, by implication, a record not necessarily free from errors. The fifth article will prove very satisfactory to Mr. Beecher, but it is an abandonment of the old orthodox theory of the nature of the Scriptures. Of course the new creed expresses extreme protestant views as to the Holy Sacraments and the Priesthood. These, however, are entirely consistent with old fashioned Congregationalism. In regard to the doctrines of the Holy Trinity, of the Divine decrees, and of the authority of Scripture, the new creed marks a long step in the direction of liberalism; and fifty years ago its framers would have been tried for heresy and deposed from the Congregational ministry.

MRS. ANNE GOTE MURDERED.

Shot Through the Head by a neighbor Who Was Prejudiced.

Squire, what do you think of a man who would fire such an instrument of death into the head of a poor unoffending creature, the only speaker of my poor children? As the speaker propounded the above question to Schwab yesterday morning and at the same time wiped a falling tear from his eyelashes, a News Journal reporter, eager for an exclusive and burning with indignation, saw in his mind's eye another jury trial and perhaps acquittal of a cold blooded murderer, his nerves were shocked and his feelings were divided between doubts and fears. Well, go on said the judge as the plaintiff muttered: She never did any one any harm in her life, and my two children, how they will miss her! Is dead? exclaimed the court. She is it? I took that bullet out of her heart.

You did! exclaimed the court, and when?

This blessed day, your honor with my own hand.

This is terrible, said the court. Outrageous! echoed the reporter.

When did she die?

Within one minute after she was shot.

Oh, there must be some mistake here. This man is crazy, said the court in an undertone. He may have imagined his wife was shot and has killed her in his attempts to extract this bullet.

Why did not you call a surgeon?

Surgeon, is it? Well I'd like to see the surgeon that could help you if you had that bullet in your heart, said the man, growing indignant and imagining that the court was tampering with his feelings.

I know that you will excuse me, I do not know what to do in this case. What is your name and residence? I want to get at the bottom of this trouble, if possible. The city and community at large are growing indignant if their rights are to be jeopardized by reckless and law defying criminals.

Yes, your honor, said the man and I suppose this fellow will get off like all of his kind.

Not it the court knows itself, said the squire, this time his turn having arrived for growing indignant. Your name please.

Michael Lahey: I live in the west End; anybody can certify to my character out there. Ask anybody about me.

Oh, that is all right, said the squire and this inhuman wretch, what is his name?

Alexander Johnson.

What! the slaughter house man?

That's the individual, and no mistake.

And your wife's name?

Oh! well your honor, you know she's dead.

Yes, but see here; I must have her name.

Well, you mustn't have her name, said Mr. Lahey.

Very well, said the squire, I see you are a little excited Mr. Lahey.

Of course I'm excited! why wouldn't I be excited.

Now just calm yourself and tell me all the particulars about this case. Who started this trouble; how did it occur, and where is your wife's body now?

See here, judge I'm a peaceable citizen; I never did any one an injury in my life; but if you don't be careful there will be trouble in this court. The reporter began to grow uneasy, and was looking around for a friendly window or cellar door. Where do you think my wife's body is? I buried it decently, like any man.

Without an inquest? roared the squire.

What did I want with an inquest? Didn't you say that Alex. Johnson shot your wife in the heart with that bullet? said the court, as he toyed with the flattened piece of lead.

No, sir; I did not. I said that he shot my nanny goat, that supplied milk for my children to live on.

Oh, that alters the case, said the judge, as he gave a sigh of relief.

What alters it? Haven't my children a right to live on goat's milk as well as any other kind?

Certainly, certainly, said the squire, have you any counsel on the matter, and when will you want this case heard?

Have I counsel, is it? Well ain't Jimmie Fitzgerald good enough for you?

Oh, certainly, said the squire, with a smile, this case will be heard at 10 o'clock Friday morning next.

Judge I'll take lemonade, said the reporter, as Mr. Lahey bowed himself out.

It's a go, said the judge, but for heaven's sake don't say anything about this to-morrow.

"DONE IT A-PURPOSE."

A Green Young Man Who Didn't Get Fooled by the Circus Lottery.

At Greeley a young man with a faded cardigan jacket and a look of woe got on the train, and as the car was a little crowded he sat in the seat with me. He had that troubled and anxious expression that a rural young man wears when he first rides on the train. When the engine whistled he would almost jump out of that cardigan jacket, and then he would look kind of foolish, like a man who allows his impulses to get the better of him. He seemed so diffident and so frightened among strangers that I began to talk with him.

Do you live at Greeley? I inquired.

No, sir, he said in an embarrassed way, as most any one might in the presence of greatness. I live on a ranch up the Pandre. I was just at Greeley to see the circus.

Did you go into the side show?

No, sir, I studied the oil paintings on the outside, but I didn't go in. I met a handsome looking man there near the side show, though, that seemed to take an interest in me. There was a lottery along with the show and he wanted me to go and throw for him.

Capper, probably?

Perhaps so. Anyhow, he gave me a dollar and told me to go and throw for him.

Why didn't he throw for himself?

Oh, he said the lottery man knew him and wouldn't let him throw.

Of course. Same old story. He saw you were a greeny and got you to throw for him. He stood in with the game, so that you drew a big prize for the capper, created a big excitement and you and the crowd sailed in and lost all the money you had. I will bet he was a man with a velvet coat and a mustache dyed a deep black and waxed as sharp as a cambric needle.

Yes; that's his description to a dot. I wonder if he really did do that a-purpose.

Well, tell us about it. It does me good to hear a blamed fool tell how he lost money. Don't you see that your awkward ways and general greenness struck that capper the first thing, and you let 300 other wappy-jawed pelicans saw you draw a big prize and thought it was yours then they deposited what little they had and everything was lovely.

Well, I'll tell you how it was if it'll do any good and save other young men in the future. You see this capper, as you call him, gave me a $1 bill to throw for him, and I put it into my vest pocket so, along with the dollar bill that father gave me. I always carry my money in my right hand vest pocket. Wal, I sailed up to the game, big as old Jumbo himself, and put a dollar into the game. As you say, I drew a big prize, $20 and a silver cup. The man offered me $5 for the cup and I took it. Then it flashed over my mind that I might have got my dollar and the other fellow's mixed, so I says to the proprietor, I will now invest a dollar for a gent who asked me to draw for him. Therupon I took out the other dollar and I'll be eternally chastised if I didn't draw a brass locket worth about two bits a bushel.

I did not say anything for a long time. Then I asked him how the capper acted when he got his brass locket.

Well, he seemed pained and I grieved about something, and he asked me if I hadn't time to go away into a quiet place where we could talk it over by ourselves, but he had a kind of a cruel, insincere look in his eye and I said no, I believe I didn't care to, and I was a poor conversationalist anyhow, and so I came away and left him looking at his brass locket, and kicking holes in the ground and using profane language. Afterwards I saw him talking with the proprietor of the lottery, and I feel somewhat that they had lost confidence in me. I heard them speak of me in a jeering tone of voice, and one said as I passed by: There goes the meek-eyed rural convict now, and he used a horrid oath at the same time. If it hadn't been for that one little coincidence there would have been nothing to mar the enjoyment of the occasion.—Detroit Free Press.

A PHYSICIAN says that nine-tenths of our American wives are totally ignorant of everything that pertains to their own health or that of the healthful rearing of a child.

"No," she said, as she sipped the cream it would take his last dime to pay for; "no, I never eat cake myself, but ma says she is getting awfully hungry waiting for a piece of my wedding-cake."

The most recent case of economy is that of a lady in Harlem, who takes the inside of the lemons to make lemon pie, and gives the peel to the servant girl for lemonade.

BRING YOUR JOB WORK —TO— THIS OFFICE

TUESDAY, APRIL 22, 1884.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We are authorized to announce JOHN BOYD as a Republican candidate for Sheriff of Christian county. Election August 1884.

COUNTY DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

The Democrats of Christian county are hereby called to meet in mass convention at the Court House in Hopkinsville, Saturday, April 26, 1884, at 1 o'clock, p. m., for the purpose of selecting delegates to the State Convention at Frankfort, May 7, called for the purpose of sending delegates to the National Democratic Convention, at Chicago, July 8.

G. A. CHAMPLIN, Chm. D. C. C. C. CHAS. M. NEACHAM, Sec. C. C. C.

The Democrats of Oregon have instructed for the "old ticket."

The Bullitt county Judge who adjourned his court to whip a lawyer would be a bad official for Corbillion to tackle.

The Hawesville Democrat has submitted to the inevitable and adopted the platform of "subscriptions for revenue only."

The merchant who sells calico strictly for cash, even though he be a Republican, believes in a tare-off for revenue only.

The news copyright bill has been reported adversely by the U. S. Senate Committee, which puts an end to it. The vote was unanimous against it.

Hon. James A. McKenize seems to be the choice of the Democracy of Western Kentucky for delegate from the State at large to the Chicago Convention. It would be difficult to find a better man.—Louisville Post.

The penitentiary convicts that have been hired out to work on railroads are being returned to the penitentiary, and by the first of September 1,200 will be crowded into a prison whose capacity is only 650.

John D. White made another asinine spectacle of himself in the House last Friday by taking advantage of his privilege to abuse Gov. Murray and to reflect upon Speaker Carlisle's integrity for testifying in behalf of the latter in the recent investigation.

The Danville Tribune announces that it is supporting Arthur for the Presidency, but says in the same column that Blaine is unquestionably the greatest statesman in either party. Arthur may well pray for deliverance from such support.

The political ball has already opened. Illinois Republicans met Tuesday and nominated R. J. Oglesby for Governor, and instructed for Logan and Lincoln. Pennsylvania Republicans met the same day and selected a delegation solid for Blaine and Lincoln. The West Virginia Democrats met Wednesday and instructed for Tilden. The Tennessee and South Carolina Republican conventions met yesterday and appointed instructed delegations to the Chicago convention.

The somewhat erratic editor of the Courier-Journal has addressed the following card to the Democrats of Kentucky: "The call for county meetings, and many letters from Democrats in various parts of Kentucky, make it proper for me to say that I am not, and shall not be, a candidate to represent either the State at large or the Fourth Congressional district in the coming National Democratic Convention.

Circumstances, rather than any inclination of my own, have, for the past ten years thrown me more or less into personal relation to the party organization, and I have sat for the State at large in the last two National Conventions by a vote approaching unanimity.

I have no greater or other concern in the selection of candidates and the adoption of platforms than becomes a good Democrat, and is shared in common with me by thousands of Democratic citizens who neither hold nor seek office, and I can see no reason why I should put upon myself the sacrifices and responsibilities of a service which, at all points difficult and thankless, is doubly so at a time when party strife and private animosities give the people such scant assurance of disinterestedness in their public men.

I have no doubt that the policy of revenue reform, now fairly inaugurated at Washington, will be completed at Chicago, in a frank and honest exposition of Democratic principles and purposes, and that a ticket will be named in harmony with the integrity, the traditions and the spirit of the party.

I hope that the approaching State Convention will appoint a trustworthy and representative body of Democrats to join in the good work of choosing fit leaders for the coming struggle and of shaping the party policy toward the triumph of the right, and I shall do my duty none the less faithfully and zealously because of my resolution to serve in the ranks.

Thanking my fellow Democrats all over the State for their too partial consideration, and grateful for a confidence which I hope I shall never forfeit, I am, with great respect,

HENRY WATKINSON.

Louisville, April 17, 1884.

POLITICAL.

Dakota Republicans prefer Blaine. Illinois is solid for John A. Logan. Iowa is for Blaine in spite of Frank Hutton.

South Carolina has declared for Arthur.

Virginia Democrats will doubtless instruct for Tilden.

The Tennessee Democratic Convention will meet June 18.

Alabama Republicans have instructed for Arthur first and Logan second choice.

Delaware sends a solid Blaine delegation to the Chicago convention, but did not instruct the delegates.

Pennsylvania Republicans want Blaine and Lincoln to be the "burnt offerings" of the "grand old party."

The New York papers estimate that Blaine will get two-thirds of the votes of New York, Arthur's own State.

Indiana's delegates to the Republican national convention are for Gresham first and Blaine second choice.

The New York Republican convention will meet to-morrow. Arthur may get the vote of the State and then again he may not.

The Indiana Democratic Association has endorsed Senator McDonald as the State's candidate for the Presidency. Hendricks is not a candidate.

The Nebraska Republican convention voted down instructions for Blaine and sent an instructed delegation, most of whom are for Arthur.

The Tennessee Republicans sent Arthur delegates to the national convention last week. Judge Frank T. Reed, an ex-Confederate soldier, was nominated for Governor.

New Jersey Republicans send an instructed delegation to Chicago. Robeson, Blaine's lieutenant, was defeated by a negro for delegate and then beaten for alternate delegate.

The Chicago News makes this estimate as to the Republican convention which would nominate Arthur on the first ballot: Arthur, 455; Blaine, 188; Logan, 46; the field, 127.

KENTUCKY KNOWLEDGE.

Edward Hughes dropped dead at Danville, of apoplexy.

Dr. R. H. Gale is reported dangerously ill at Anchorage Asylum.

The Catlettsburg Democrat says there will be plenty of fruit in Boyd county.

A fire at Carlisle destroyed a fine block last week. Loss $58,500 and insurance $37,000.

The Republican Convention of the First District meets at Paducah next Thursday, Apr. 24.

Henry H. Houston, of Paducah, is a Republican candidate for Congress in the First District.

Wm. Neal is on trial at Grayson this week. There is no excitement as in the case of Craft.

A ledge of rock gave way in a quarry near Louisville and crushed to death Michael Davis.

A fire at Ludlow, opposite Cincinnati, destroyed $20,000 worth of property last Wednesday.

Isenberg & Bro's paper mill burned in Louisville last week. Loss $25,000, insurance $12,000.

Tom Davis, a brakeman, was killed by the cars, at Dupont, on the C. & O. S. W. railroad, Apr. 14.

Hon. W. H. Wadsworth declines to be a Republican candidate for Congress in the Ninth District.

The statue erected in Frankfort to the memory of Judge Jno. M. Elliott will be unveiled Thursday.

J. J. Goodlett, aged 70, and Miss Alice Norton, aged 20, were married recently, in Anderson county.

The Trigg county Republicans instructed for Blaine and Lincoln and declared for a high protective tariff.

Mr. A. E. Whittemore has retired from the management of the Dawson Rippings and Scott Bros. will conduct it in the future.

Philip Schlischer, an old herb doctor of Louisville, was killed by the cars while walking on the track, in a drunken condition.

Gen. Taylor, chief of the Louisville police, has issued an order forbidding young ladies to appear on the streets dressed in Mother Hubbard dresses.

Loftus Burns, an Irishman aged 45 years who lived all alone in Hancock county was found in his yard where he had been murdered and his house robbed. He was a well-to-do farmer.

Mr. Silas M. Thomas, who is over fifty years of age, and a well-known and well-to-do farmer of Logan county, bought the first suit of "store clothes" he ever had in his life last Saturday.—Louisville Post.

The Boyd county Republican Convention broke up in a row last week. John and Roe Burns, father and son, led the Arthur and Blaine forces respectively. The Blaine men hotel and each faction held a separate convention and two sets of delegates were appointed.

The Clark county Democrat contains the announcements of one candidate for Congress, two for Judge of the Court of Appeals, two for County Clerk, two for Circuit clerk, three for County judge, eight for jailer and seven for assessor and it is not a good year for candidates either.

ALL ABOARD!

RAILROAD MEETING AT ELKTON, KENTUCKY.

Three Hundred People in Attendance.

Determined to Secure It at Any Cost, is the Cry of the Sovereign People.

The Sound of the Whistle and Bell Not Far Distant.

A rousing railroad meeting was held at Elkton last Saturday to raise means to build a railroad from Guthrie to Elkton, a distance of twelve miles.

The meeting was called to order by Judge Terry, one of the original commissioners, who was chosen to preside. Mr. Petree in a brief speech explained the object of the meeting.

Major E. H. Bristol and John Overstreet were elected Secretary and Assistant Secretary of the meeting.

A motion was then made by Mr. Minims that the matter be postponed for one month to further the subscriptions. This was vigorously opposed by several gentlemen. Mr. Petree said that the engineers had reported that the road could be built for $35,000 cash. The books showed that $33,550 had already been made up and the matter ought not to be postponed a day.

Mr. Reeves thought Minims' motion was a good one and spoke for a few minutes in favor of it. After considerable discussion Minims withdrew his motion and the books were opened for subscriptions. Mr. Petree called on all those who had not taken stock to come up and subscribe. Dr. Lowery made a few remarks stating that postponement would be a death blow to the road. He was for the road, mile by mile, and wanted it built right away. Mr. Perkins said he would have it built if he had to give $2,000 himself, but he wanted everybody to have a fair showing. He wanted it understood that not a dollar of the money would be spent until everything was complete.

Without the road the town would go down, the merchants would move away and Elkton would never be more than a country village. $500 additional subscriptions were then reported.

After numerous speeches had been made and the necessary amount, excepting about $2,000, had been subscribed, the meeting proceeded to the election of directors for the road.

The people of Todd county and especially of Elkton are in earnest about the building of this road and it is now an assured fact that it will be built. The day was emphatically "Railroad Day" and business was almost suspended and everybody talked "railroad." The directors chosen are men who will push the work through as early as possible.

The Courier-Journal thinks Cornelison, who assaulted Judge Reid, should be disbarred from practicing in the higher courts of the state and prosecuted to the utmost limit of the law. So thinks every law-loving citizen. If Judges of the highest courts of the state are to be shot down like Judge Elliott and assaulted like Judge Reid, then the courts might as well be abolished at once. Let the Legislature enact laws to protect its judiciary beyond the protection afforded to private citizens, who are in a position to resent such outrages.

John J. Cornelison, who cowhided Judge Reid of the Superior Court, at Mt. Sterling, last week, is being severely condemned not only by the press but by the people of the district and State. It has been shown conclusively that Reid had no connection whatever with the case decided adversely to Cornelison and caused the shameful and cowardly outrage. Cornelison invited Reid into his office and then closed the door and proceeded to cowhide him, lashing and scratching him about the head and face.

Cornelison was hung in effigy Thursday night, and an indignation meeting, composed of the best citizens of Mt. Sterling, was held Saturday. It remains to be seen what will be the outcome. Judge Reid's friends are calling upon him to repent the indignity and telling him that if he fails to do so he might as well withdraw from the race for Judge of the Court of Appeals.

TRENTON.

Miss Mary Drake, of Pembroke, Ky., is here on a visit to her friend, Miss Annie Dickinson.

The new Grange meets to-day, three miles South East of this city, at Coleman's Bridge. They will have dinner on the ground. On such an occasion as this would be a good thing to be a Granger and with the Grangers stand (and eat).

Mrs. Dean White is in the city on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Jas. Y. Cabaniss.

Rev. A. B. Cabaniss is on the road again after spending a few days with his family.

W. D. Wilson, who cut his foot very badly some weeks ago, is improving very slowly.

Sam Steger, of S. E. Steger & Co., is sick at his home with the measles.

The Inspector for the Wrought Iron Range Co., St. Louis, is calling on his patrons in this and adjoining counties.

Miss Mary Guinn has returned to school after having spent a week with relatives at Port Royal Tenn.

Miss Beulah Settle, of Fairview, Ky., visited Miss Jennie Cabaniss this week.

Mr. Geo. T. Cross, representing

Hart & Co., Louisville, Ky., is in town.

James Yost, of Allensville, Ky., visited his brother Geo. Washington Yost, this week.

Mrs. John L. Cross is visiting her mother, Mrs. C. R. Rutherford this week.

Geo. T. Randle made a flying trip to Guthrie last Sunday.

Richard Fox who has been quite ill for a month is improving very slowly.

Joe Ray, of Auburn, Ky., is in the city.

Charley Bronaugh, of Pembroke, Ky., came to town this week.

We feel greatly relieved since you concluded not to run for the Presidency. You could doubtless get away with the "Solid South" in good shape. I fear in New York you wouldn't do so well. You do well in not consenting to go before the Convention at Chicago for you might mix up matters.

My friend Daniel Webster once "gave himself away" in this shape, "I had rather be right than President."

Remember the words of Daniel and remember also that a man can be right nine or ten times, while he can't be President once.

The Peerless Concert and Comedy Company hold the boards (and everything else they can get their hands on) at the City Hall Apr. 24 and 25. Come boys and bring your girls.

I would like to say a few words to some of my Todd county friends before I close. Now is the time to subscribe for the SEMI-WEEKLY SOUTH KENTUCKIAN. Besides getting two letters a week from Trenton, you have a chance to get an organ, sewing machine, wagon, plows and many other things. I will take contracts for Job and Pamphlet work of every description and guarantee it to be as cheap as the cheapest. Come and see me when you come to town, subscribe for the SOUTH KENTUCKIAN and get the Trenton news every week. Selah!

SOCIALITIES.

Insure with T. W. & F. W. Buckner.
Judge John R. Grace is in the city.

R. G. Pryor, of Cincinnati, was in the city yesterday.

Hop Holman and Will Morton, of Madisonville, were in the city Sunday.

Miss Bettie Davis, of the county, is visiting relatives in the city this week.

Miss Lallie Woodbridge is in Henderson this week visiting Miss Mary Barrett.

Mrs. Dr. L. B. Hickman and her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Gray, returned from St. Louis Friday.

Miss Bonnie Dalton, of Garrettsburg, is visiting friends and relatives in the city this week.

Miss Mary Chilton, who is attending school in the city, went home to Pembroke Friday and returned Sunday.

Rev. Mr. Caldwell, of Bowling Green, chaplain of the 3rd Regiment K. S. G., preached at the Southern Presbyterian church Sunday night.

Our handsome, genial young friend, Prof. W. J. Dulin, of Hopkinsville, has accepted the position of clerk at the Acadia this season—Dawson Rippings.

A prominent young Main street merchant will leave for Nashville Wednesday on business of very great importance. He will not return home alone.

Mr. C. K. Wheeler, of Paducah, was in the city Sunday visiting his brother Dr. W. G. Wheeler. We are sorry to learn that his health is so poor that he fears he will be forced to temporarily abandon the practice of his profession, at Paducah.

Messrs. Bryan Hopper and Henry Stites, two of Hopkinsville's agreeable gentlemen, attended the hop at the Exchange Tuesday evening. It has been intimated that a penchant other than that for "tripping the light fantastic," brought them hither.—Tobacco Leaf.

Our friend, Mr. John H. Wood, of Trenton, has accepted the position as traveling tourist for the well-known wholesale whisky house of Robert Howe, of Cincinnati. John is a good one and Mr. Howe will never regret having secured the services of so worthy a young man. Here's to you, John, and may you sell many barrels of the celebrated goods of Robt. Howe.

District Conference.

The Russellville District Conference of the Methodist Church will be held in Trenton, beginning May 8 and hold over the following Sunday. Bishop Hargrave will preside. Dr. R. A. Young, Dr. O. P. Fitzgerald, Rev. David Morton, Dr. B. M. Messick and other visiting brethren are expected. The subject of Missions and Sunday School interests will receive due attention.

A special centenary service will be held. Members of the Quarterly Conference are members of the District Conference and they are requested to answer roll call at 9 o'clock, A. M., Thursday, May 8.

Geo. R. Browder, P. E.

A poor blind man by the name of Riley, while on his way from Cadiz to Hopkinsville, riding a donkey and led by a dog, was suddenly taken sick on the public highway near Shiloh Church. A Good Samaritan passing by summoned Dr. Cullom, of Bellevue, who at once removed him to the church, where he remained in attendance upon him all night. This was last Wednesday night. On the following morning Dr. Cullom removed him to his own home, distant three miles, where he was kindly cared for by his wife and neighbors. Mr. Riley was alarmingly ill with obstructed bowels. On Friday morning following Dr. W. M. Fuqua was called in consultation with Dr. Cullom, and it was agreed that without an operation he would be certain to die. Dr. Fuqua performed skillfully the operation of gastrostomy, assisted by Dr. Cullom, and it remains to be seen what will be the final result. These kind friends are greatly to be commended for their charity to his more than unfortunate man.

The vagrant laws are shamefully violated in this city. Loafers are so numerous that they obstruct the streets at some points. Bridge street needs the special attention of the police. It was impossible for ladies to go to the post-office Saturday for the crowds of drunken, swearing and obscene loafers on the pavements. They were not people from the country but worthless characters about the city who ought to be prosecuted under the vagrant law.

Polk Casler's Semi-Monthly stock sale comes off at his stable in this city next Saturday April 26th.

Mr. J. W. Hicks has sold his property at Cerulean Springs to Mr. E. E. Wash, including the large dwelling opposite the Springs Hotel.

Our Todd county neighbor, the Elkton Register, failed to come out last week and the office was temporarily if not permanently closed at last accounts.

A. M. Lubb was tried for cutting John H. West, before Judge Brasher last Friday, and held under a $300 bond to answer any indictment that may be found against him.

Democrats from every section of the county should make it a point to attend the county convention at the court house next Saturday, at 1:30 o'clock.

Go to G. E. Gaither's Drug Store and secure your chance in a hundred dollar fine oil painting Picture, (original cost $10.00) which will be raffled as soon as the chances are all taken.

The barrel race at the rink Saturday night was a very amusing feature. There were three contestants for the prize of one dollar, which was won by Rabert Buckner.

The young gentleman of the city will give a hop next Friday evening the 25th inst. in the hall over Howe's jewelry store. A number of married ladies have consented to act as chaperones. A very pleasant time is anticipated.

The Farmers' Home Journal recently mentioned a three months' old calf that weighed 223 pounds. Messrs. W. A. and J. J. Reed, of Bellevue, in this county have one that weighed 82 pounds when one day old and on the day it was 60 days old tipped the beam at 255 pounds. Who can beat that?

By scanning the special local column of this issue it will be seen that our old friend J. A. B. Johnson has again come to the front, and has just received a large stock of goods necessary to run his business. We hope he will meet with the reward that he so richly deserves.

Mr. D. A. Tandy was in town yesterday delivering the Business Directory spoken of in our last. He had Directories of Dawson, Madisonville, Nortonville, Earlinton, Hopkinsville and other places. It was turned out by the South Kentuckian printing Company, of Hopkinsville and for superb workmanship, excellent taste and artistic design it cannot be excelled. Nearly every business house in Dawson is represented and it gives universal satisfaction.—Dawson Rippings.

Major V. M. Metcalfe, of Hopkinsville has been in the city this week and called to see us on Thursday. The Major has a protect on foot which if carried out will afford a most enjoyable occasion for the parties concerned. He proposes a family reunion of the Killebrews, Johnsons, Forts, Radfords, Whitfields and Metcalfes, all of whom are in some manner related to one another and who are very numerous in this section of country. The reunion will take place on the 20th of May at Guthrie, Trenton or Fort's station; the place has not been definitely agreed upon. It is proposed to have a basket dinner, and Col. James E. Bailey, Col. J. B. Killebrew and others have consented to be present and deliver speeches. Major Metcalfe will furnish further information on the subject if desired.—Clarksville Chronicle.

Maj. Gordon informs us that the Chesapeake & Ohio company has not brought a controlling interest in the Clarksville and Princeton road. The I. A. & T. company is still on deck. It has not been sold out, and if it has any intention of doing so, we do not know it. As to the report that the road will be made standard gauge, that is conditionally true, and was so published by the Leaf two weeks ago. The I. A. & T. company proposes to make the gauge standard on condition that the subscribers to the first mortgage bonds give their consent to the issuance of said bonds to the amount of $20,000 per mile, instead of $10,000 as under the present arrangement. This we are gratified to state is being readily agreed to by the stockholders.—Tobacco Leaf.

MINNIE HAWK.

The Fashionable and Musical Event of the Season.

Minnie Hawk, one of the greatest and most celebrated Prima Donnas of the present day, will positively make her first and only appearance in this city, on Wednesday, Apr. 30, and there is not the slightest doubt that a very large and fashionable audience will assemble to witness that enjoyable event. It is unquestionably an occasion of great musical importance and considerable interest has been manifested in our social and fashionable circles. Speaking of her performance the Washington Post says:

The most enjoyable concert ever given in this city, was that of last evening by Minnie Hawk and her operatic concert company, including Constantin Sternberg, the celebrated pianist and composer. The programme contained eight numbers and selections from the second act of "Carmen," one of Madame Hawk's favorite operas, the production of Bizet, a French composer, now dead. Without exception the numbers were pleasing and of a character neither too heavy nor too light to find a heavy reception. Moreover, every selection was given with a happy uniformity of ability calculated to render the concert doubly appreciable.

The Boston Herald says: All in all Mme. Hawk won a perfect ovation in Boston, and a second appearance of the great singer would be sure to draw another crowded house.

THE PROGRAMME.
The programme, as already announced some days ago, will be faithfully adhered to, the first part containing selections, airs and duets from popular operas, while the second part will be filled by scenes from George Bizet's great opera Carmen, which has been written and created by Mme. Hawk in all the great capitals of the old and new world, and which made the greatest success of any grand opera since Trovatore and Faust.

THE DRESS.
Minnie Hawk will appear at the concert during the first part of the same, in a Royal Blue Brochet dress trimmed with real Duchesse lace made by the famous Worth, of Paris. In her hair she will wear the celebrated five diamond stars, a present to her of the late emperor of Russia.

THE OTHER ARTISTS.
Amongst the celebrated artists supporting Mme. Hawk is Mr. Constantin Sternberg, the pianist and composer, whose compositions are held in great favor by the musical classes of the eastern cities. He will play Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night Dream" and some of his own compositions on a beautiful Steinway concert grand.

The three other vocalists of the company are the best in the country, famous both here and in Europe.

Mr. Harrell, of Elkton, has one of the finest horses in Todd county, that answers to the name of Major. He is indeed a beauty and all those who admire a fine animal should not fail to see Major.

CASKY.

Many of our farmers have finished planting corn.

Mrs. T. O. Smith, from Hadensville, Ky., visited her sister, Miss Belle Henry last week.

H. C. Young and wife are in Clarksville, attending their little daughter, who is very ill with brain fever.

Miss Carrie Wallace, from Clarksville, returned home Saturday after a week's visit to the Misses Wardfield. From present indications there will be abundant crops of apples, pears and plums in our community this season.

A number of our citizens are anticipating much pleasure from the visit of Minnie Hawk.

Miss Susie Rutherford, from Hopkinsville, spent Saturday and Sunday last visiting Miss Hattie Kelly.

Mrs. Winston Henry is visiting friends and relatives in Adam's Station, Tenn., this week.

A new chimney is being built to a certain house, and everything points to wedding chimes in the near future.

Dr. Tidings, who is preparing the history of our county, spent several days of last week in this vicinity collecting statistics.

The neighboring hamlet of Pembroke has a Pembroke-Hopkinsville newspaper, and Casky should organize an ice factory to keep up.

Whitewashing, yard-cleaning and selecting new bonnets became the order of the day and the voice of the festive spring chicken is heard in the land.

The American Ornithologists Union, has appointed our postmaster, Mr. Frank B. Hancock, their correspondent and reporter for this part of Ky.

Dr. Gunn and D. F. Savage, under the firm name of Gunn & Co., have organized for the purpose of furnishing honey for sale, the sale of queen bees, bee hives, etc. They are located at Dr. Gunn's place.

An old drake woman applied to Justice Brasher Saturday morning for a paper giving her permission to administer a sound thrashing to her son-in-law who would not obey her.

The many friends of Capt. Mich. Green, of the accommodation, will regret to learn that the severe illness of his wife has compelled him to leave his train for a time. No one is more liked than Mich.

Little Johnnie Ely and Mr. Willie Hancock are wearing button hole bouquets every day, and have begun to black their boots accordingly. "In the spring the minds of youth and maiden lightly turn to thoughts of love."

SALLIE.

Our people have never had a first-class operatic star to visit them and Miss Minnie Hawk should be given a tremendous house on the 30th. She is at the very top of her profession and Mr. Rodgers deserves great credit for securing such an attraction. The tickets will be $1.50.

The brick work on the Garnett & Williams house is being pushed ahead as rapidly as the weather will permit.

Mr. C. B. Webb has had the front of his saddle store painted a bright red.

Lord Kenmare, the new Lord Chamberlain, was desperately nervous at his first levee. He announced the Lieutenant and Adjutant of a distinguished line regiment as staff sergeant, and Sir Baker Russell as Sir Russell Baker.

As a general average four or five pounds of good oak bark are required to make a pound of leather. Skins, when completely tanned, increase in weight about one-third.
